

income now, and it could be more in the years to come. Do you remember that time, I think, George (words not clear) on the (not clear), you know. He was saying at that time, it's been about a year ago, I guess, that it would take the geologist and all them years. It would take them three years before they revise a way to get this oil out.)

Yes, there has been great concerns through recently have come up with an invention and they both claim that it will work in this type of sands. My understanding is that, and I have talked with different people in regards to it, right now, it's too expensive to get this operation started. I think that a little later on that they will have cheaper ways to do it; but we've got oil, and we've got lots of it. We don't need to be alarmed, only is, how long we are going to keep it? In 1983, or, in my opinion, I think that we ought to have definite date.

(Well, I understand, I thought that ---like the tribal council and disputed your word and said that they did talk about this in 1965, I believe. They said--at first, they had that mineral stuff go on to (not clear) I'd have been satisfied, but they changed it.)

Yes, they did.

("Unless," they changed that one word, "To Provided" to "Unless.")

It was all the same thing. But, in my opinion, Leonard, I don't think it has made it any stronger.

(Looks like they did.)

Yeah.

(I don't think so. I feel it should be a definite date or---)
