

(Which company was he in?)

I think the Crazy Company.

(Is there anybody still living that used to belong to that?)

No, all of them is gone. Every one of them. Ain't nothing left.

* * *

ARAPAHOES ON POW-WOW COMMITTEE

When they had pow-wows. They used to have Forty-Nine.

(Was that the same pow-wow that now they're having at Colony?)

No. It's just a pow-wow like we had a Barefoot.

(Who was running it back then--members of the Pow-wow Committee?)

There was David Bighead--he's gone. And Armstrong--he's here (Saul Birdshead, also known as Armstrong Spotted Horse). Saul Birdshead. And Judson Hudson's father was one of them. And Frank Edison.

(This Armstrong, what was his last name?)

Spotted Horse.

(Is he Arapaho?)

Yeah, he's Arapaho. He's the one that always apeak for Barefoot--Saul Birdshead.

* * *

His real name is Saul Birdshead, but his nickname is Armstrong.

(Where does the Spotted Horse come in?)

That was his uncle--that wasn't his father. I don't know Spotted--I don't know who the father is. Of Saul Birdshead. I don't know. His mother was a Birdshead. That's what his name is. We don't know who his father is. Same way with Oscar Birdshead--we don't know his father.

(What was their mother's name?)

Rosie Birdshead. That was her--her husband's nephew. (?)

* * *