WYANDOTTE INDIANS AND OTHER TRIBES LISTED

(This was, this area right in here was the Wyandotte Indians.)

Yes Sir.

(Now, the Senecas, they were on further south.)

Yeah. South. They're down here with this, this Brown cemetery is.

(And then the Peorias and the Shawnees are on north of you here.)

Shawnees own just right up yonder.

(Yeah.)

And the Peorias right on up there. Then the Quapaws come in there. Modocs. They give them a little five or ten acre plot up there Wyandottes go from this river down here to Missouri line. Close to Seneca. And the tribal line is right out there till you cross it. You go to that cemetery.

(Yeah.)

About a mile or so south. They don't own much land in here.

Then the Cayugas, they dropped in here. So they got some small plots. I believe there was thirteen different tribes. See, there's four different tribes in Miami.

(Well.)

When we come to this country, here was the Peorias. And there was the Miamis and about five or six families of Potawatomies. And then there was the... There was about three different tribes I went with two different girls. It was long ago. Neither one of them married me. Anyway, I didn't marry none of them.

MEETING GROUNDS FOR VARIOUS TRIBES

(Where was the Wyandots meeting grounds up in here? Do they...)

/words not clear/ meeting. They have their stomp dance out here once a year. For years and years and years. I don't know where they done anything except over at that Indian school, only place I ever knowed. The Senecas, their stomp grounds is down here to
