

that they used. You know the fan the people that were in a trance. I seen that man that used to do that, he'd take that eagle wing and work it around some way and then he'd just do like that and then the person would fall.

(Into a trance?)

Uhuh.

(How did these people come out of trances after they went into them?)

Just like waking up from a drowsy sleep, I guess. Something of the kind. That's the way I looked at it.

(Did these people ever come over and wake them up like the way they went over and..)

No, they didn't do nothing. They didn't touch them at all.

(Was there anyone that never woke up?)

No.

(About how long would they be in a trance?)

Oh, maybe from 16 to some of them a half hour I would say.

(Where there any other tribes that went to the dance with the Caddo?)

Yes, the Arapahoes came down. The Cheyennes came down, the Wichitas came over and they just all danced together.

(Did they come over for a Caddo dance for the Ghost dance or did the Caddo go over..)

They intermingled.

(Is what you mean is that all the tribes around here just came together and met at one spot?)

Yes, uhuh.
