

I don't know how it happened, you know. I don't know. Just made that way. Maybe, I took my eyes off it just for a second or something like that. I was watching that, and yet that peyote was gone. And I went, I went on a, on that mark. They always have a mark on top of the moon, just like a path you know. I went out to there. It was gone. I came back. It was gone. I came back. And where I was sitting right in front there it was. It wasn't (not clear) on the side. It was on the side of the moon. And next time I noticed it was an eye. And I kinda, you know, surprised. I didn't tell anything. I just trying to figure it out what it was. What it's all about, you know. And I couldn't bend over. I just had to sit this way. If I wanna look closer, I stand like this, you know. And finally, I noticed this fireplace. This moon was fish. And that eye, that fish, some kinda of a fish, and that fire, I don't know. Something happened. Well, about that time, maybe, that fire went down, see? Fire musta, you know how, you know how, yeah, I guess your dad, yeah, sometimes, fire goes down, you know, they scrap the ashes. That's what happened. That's the time I kinda give a jerk, you know. Seems like, confusion, something stir up in that place, fire place, you know. It kinds give me a little jerk, you know. And I can feel that thing coming out. See, I didn't eat, that's, that four peyote. That's all I had. And just by watching that ting, that thing doctored me through making itself the fish. They told me that I was cursed by that fish. See, the Indians, you know, they have thing back there too. You know, they're afraid of animals like that, that some animals, you know, curse them, person and die, you know. And that's what they said that that was. In that condition, I was cursed by that fish, and this, through that way, why, I was cured by this fire place.
