

Yeah. (not clear). They're (not clear), you know. His name, his children all different name, different name all together. Just like same as Charlie Whitehorn.

(Now, Old Man Minkie over there--what's his full name?)

Full name?

(I mean what did they call him didn't they call him Minkie Co wah ka.)

Let's see now. I forgot now. I know it, but I can't say it. Co wah ka (?).

That's what they used to call him. Old Indian name, long time ago.

(What kin was Old Man Minkie--was he kin to Old Man Roman Logan?)

Yeah, I think he was.

(I do too, I don't know why or how though.)

I don't know either, there is a bunch of them, you know.

(Yeah.)

Old Man Minkie and Old Man (Osage name), Roman Logan and Old Man (Osage name).

I think that is a whole family. One family. Baconrind in that too, I believe.

(Kinda interesting those clanships and just like Old Man Minkie he was the lower son--group?)

Yeah.

(Group band or clan--the only one left now I guess is Old Netty ain't it?)

Yeah she is the only one left.

(Old one I mean, out of that group.)

Yeah.

(Netty's name was White, wasn't it?)

Who?

Netty Luttrell. Her name was White, wasn't it?)

Yeah. Her father's name was Richard White. He married--even nobody knew it, even old lady didn't know. I tried to find out, even the mother didn't know it. 'Cause I had to do it, you know. She--her brother stay with her--my mother, she stay with Jack Wheeler--by a man name Jack Wheeler. And the last family.
