

(First part of sentence not clear.) Mary--Mary Burkhart.)

Burkhart.

(Yeah, Bill Burkhart and that girl down in Oklahoma City.)

She married--Bill Burkhart married--what's her name?

(Mary.)

Mary. She had the girl ain't it?

(Boy and girl.)

Both of them. Bill died though, ain't it?

(Bill and Mary died.)

Is the boy married? Both of them married?

(What kin is--just like those Bill--I mean Mary, old Man Minkie's daughter.

Old Man Minkie what kin--was he kin to--he wouldn't be kin to Josephine Walker was he?)

Who?

(Old Man Minkie.)

Yeah, to Josephine Walker's kin.

(How is it--what (not clear), my father kinda call Josephine his daughter.)

I don't know what. There relation some place. 'Cause (not clear) and Josephine Walker realltion, you know. (next sentence not clear). But Minkie--

Old Man Minkie's daddy I don't know how come he say that. There must be relation someplace.

(Must be, because you know Old Man Minkie's wife, the mother of Louis and Mary could be related to this Richard White.)

Old Man Minkie's wife and Richard White, brother and sister.

(Oh!)

That's where it's at.

(Oh!)

I seen him, Richard White's boy up at Clinton the other day. He can't walk.

(Oh!)
