

All right.

VISITS AND DISCUSSES GRAVEYARD

(I didn't know if there was some graves out there, and I thought I could find out who they are, but--(static) there's, there just out there.)

(Who were some of the early days families that in this Oologah country?)

Well, now, Charlie Harrison up there.

(Yeah.)

When we get back to my house I'll show you where they live at.

(O.K.)

Go by talk to him.

(Yeah.)

Anyway Charlie lived here a long, long time. Yeah, this is the old O-T Trail, right here, this is it. It's been abandoned for years, ever since they put that new highway in. Let's see, that was put in--

(Well, this--this O-T Trail was in here back in the horse and buggy days, wasn't it?)

Oh, yeah, yes, sir. Yeah, it used to be way down to Joplin.

(Well.)

Down in here and all over this place Old Harms he used be U.S. marshall.

(Well.)

Well, he's dead now. About all these old timers are gone, too.

(That's right, most of the old timers are gone.)

TALKS OF GRANDFATHER

Yeah, I guess my grandfather, he lived to be around a hundred years old.

(Well.)

(Interruption)

My grandfather settled east of this area. He said he was at that place.
