

Yeah.

(I was just noticing on your family tree many of the Sanders served in the Civil War, too.)

Uh-huh, yeah, uh-huh.

(And according to your family tree--most of the Sanders came from Georgia.)

Yes.

(From the old Hickory Log District around Hightower.)

Yes.

(That must have been awful hard for those folks to give up their homes--back in there and just leave everything.)

Yes, and just leave everything.

(And start out for Indian Territory. I can't imagine just, what all they had to go through.)

Yes, moving about.

(And in the winter time, too?)

Yes. Took their homes away from them.

(Yeah. Yeah, I noticed there that--some of the Sanders died on the "Trail of Tears.")

Yes, some of them died on it.

(Interruption)

Come here from out of the wilderness.

(Yeah.)

And build their homes here.

(Yes, there was a wilderness here.)

Wilderness and build their log cabins.

(Yeah. How old is this old building here by your place, Miss Wilhite?)

Well, I don't--
