

Uh-huh. The boys had another building. Big building. But they have all torn that house down. You know when your going on that highway.

(Out on highway nine?)

Yeah.

(Is that right after you come around that curve?)

Yeah, you can see that church. That one church. They build a new church there now.

On that road.

(That's right before you got to the Washita River?)

Yeah, right over here, west.

(Did they ever punish you?)

Sometimes they punish childrens. They make them stand in the corner and sometimes they make them write tests.

(Write tests?)

Uh-huh.

(What kind of tests?)

Oh, they got to be good girl. They would have to write that a hundred times.

(For what reasons did they punish you?)

Oh, when they don't behave themselves.

(Well, what would they do?)

Oh, sometimes they don't mind their teachers or matrons. Sometimes they get into fights and they punish them.

(What else?)

Oh, they see you talk to boys and they punish you for it too.

(For talking to a boy?)

Oh, they see you talk to boys and they punish .....Uh-huh, you can't talk to your friends. But now everything is different.

(Did you speak English then?)

Uh-huh. We talk English over there. We learn.

(Did you ever speak Apache ?)

No, we don't talk Indian. They would punish us if we talk Indian.
