

(Oh they would?)

Uh-huh.

(What would they do?)

Oh make us stand in the corner somewhere.

(Do you remember very much Apache now?)

Yeah. I know quite a bit but I can't talk to nobody now. Nobody around now expect old lady Conna Mae. When she comes around I talk Apache to her.

(Conna Mae Saddleblanket?)

Um-hum. I talk Apache to her but my grandsons they don't talk Apache.

They talk English all the time.

(Is that good or bad?)

Uh,,,

(That your grandchildren don't know any Apache?)

That's hard to decide. It's hard for them to try to learn it.

(How old were you when you left St. Patrick's?)

Oh, I must of been about fourteen. I guess. Then I quit school when I was seventeen.

(Did you graduate from St. Patrick's?)

No, no.

(About what grade did you finish?)

Oh, they didn't have no highschool there.

(Oh they didn't?)

It just went up to about must be about sixth. I think it was sixth.

(When your mother was cooking for them where did she stay?)

Oh at the school there.

(Oh she did?)

Um-hum..

(What kind of a.....Did she just have a room?)

Oh, we just all stayed there and they gave her a room for cook womans. And two other womans stayed there too.
