

I don't know.

(I mean did they help other women too?)

Yes, but now days a young girl always go to the hospital. In our days it was hard times.

(Did they give you any anesthetic or anything to kill the pain?)

No.

(Did your mother help you?)

Yeah, she helped me once in a while.

(Did they ever try to figure out if the baby was coming out in the right position?)

No.

(Well, did it mean anything if say, he came out feet first rather than his head?)

The head comes out first. I never did have no baby with it's feet down.

(They always come out with their heads?)

No...I mean yeah.

(Is there anything special you take after having the baby?)

No.

(Who took care of you the ten days you were resting?)

Oh, my mother.

(Was there any special thing you had a lot of then?)

Uh-huh, no.

(Did you drink any water?)

Yeah, I drank warm water. I didn't drink any ice water only warm.

(You mean they wouldn't let you drink ice water?)

Yeah, only warm water.

(What would happen if you drank ice water?)

Well, some people they would have pains in their sides if they drank cold water and the doctor would have to give you pills.

(Cold water gives you pains?)

Yeah.
