

Men and women.

(The people who were dancing, would they be singing, too?)

Yeah, they used to all sing. They used to all sing.

(Would the young people ever participate?)

Oh, yeah, a lot of young people used to get up and dance. They had a respect for that dance, for a while. It seen like, you know, everything just turn out the other way--I don't know. A lot of this young generation don't have no respect for anything.

(About when was it that they started sort of turning away from this Ghost Dance or when they started to not have it so much?)

Oh, about 1902, I think. I think that's the last time I seen a dance. They used to make fun of it.

(Who did?)

These young people. When they dance they used to say, "The ghosts are coming!" They used to make fun of it.

(Interruption)

CADDO GHOST DANCE SONGS TAKEN FROM ARAPAHOES

(I had a few more questions I wanted to ask you about this Ghost Dance-- didn't you tell me one time that the Caddo Ghost Dance songs today are the same ones the Arapahoes used to have?)

Yeah.

(Did they get them from the Arapahoes?)

(Doesn't answer this--unless she nods yes.)

(Have you ever been to any of their dances?)

No.

(Can you tell me about when they got it or anything like that?)
