

(How would you address her if you're talking to her?)

naehéiháe

(If you're talking about your mother-in-law to someone else, how would you refer to her?)

Same thing-- naehéiháe

(Would you ever call your mother-in-law by her name?)

Yeah.

(Could you explain any more about that--like when you would call her naehéiháe and when you would call her by name?)

Well, if anybody ask me "Who?" I'd say naehéiháe But I used to call her by her name.

(What was her name?)

Circle.

(How many kids did they have--Bird's Head and Circle?)

Well, they had my husband. And his brother. He had a brother. Two sisters.

(Did they have any others?)

That's all.

(Your husband's name was Howard?)

Yeah.

(What was his brother's name?)

Howling Buffalo.

(Did he have an English name?)

No.

(What about the sisters--what were their names?)

Howard's oldest sister's name was Esther. And the other one, she was kind of off--they used to call her "Cross Eyes." You know how many children he's got!

(referring to Howard.) This one didn't have any.
