(Myrtle's husband's sister didn't like Myrtle and didn't approve of the marriage. See other tapes for details.--jj)

(But other people, they did tease their sister-in-law?)

Yeah, they tease with their sister-in-law. Say things about how they--like, "You're dressed up to death just to get my brother!"

You know, just that way. They used to tease. Come out all dressed up and my brother had to like her! They used to tell their sister-in-laws like that.

(Well, when they were talking like that to their sister-in-law--would that be your brother's wife, or your husband's sister?)

Yeah. My husband's sister. That way. They tease one another like that.

(What about your brother's wife--would you tease with her?)

Yeah. . .

(How would you tease her?)

Oh, just say funny things. If she do anything, just laugh at her and make fun of her--that way. That's the way they used to do.

(Did they ever get mad when they were teasing?)

No. They never did get made. I never did know of anybody getting mad. Their sister-in-laws--some of them--sometimes they--well, without people knowing, they don't like their sister-in-laws. They keep it quiet, but they don't talk to them. That's the way it is. If they dislike their sister-in-law, they just steer clear away from them.
