

Yeah. You know, this Warren G.'s got funny ways. I don't think he wanted them to have anything for him when his grandfather try to ask him. That's what I heard. He didn't want to--I don't know--he didn't want to show off or anything like that, you know. So I don't know. I never did know of him having special.

SPECIALS FOR DECEASED SERVICE MEN

(Your own boy--the one that didn't come back--after they sent his body home and you all gave away the horses and all that, was there times after that that you'd have things in memory of him, or maybe give away--?)

Yeah, yeah. One pow-wow we took his flag over there and we give special for it. We gave away for it. Same way with Tommy.

(Do you still have those flags?)

Yeah, I got mine, but his daughter come after his. I got Tommy's.

(At some dances I've been to, I've seen some ladies that would have a picture of their son that's in the service--maybe he'd been killed or something like that--have you ever done that when you were having something for your boys?)

Yeah, we did. We did. We had his picture enlarged and we showed his picture. But now his daughter has got it. I ain't got it. And before this old man passed away, he told me, he said, "When you have anything doing for my children--or me--you might have doings for me," he said. "Don't take my picture out. Don't take our pictures any more." And I don't take them.

(Did he say why or do you have any idea why?)

Oh, it's just that he didn't want me to take them. "I'm going to be gone and my boy is gone. Just keep them," he said. "If you want to see them, why look at them, but don't do that any more. I don't think it's right,"
