

(Would you remember it?)

No, I don't remember it.

(Did it have words to it?)

Yeah it had words in it.

(Do they still sing it?)

No. When we used to dance, they used to sing it, but since they're not calling the clubs, they don't sing them songs any more.

(When did he make the song for it?)

Right after we elect, and I guess they come to him, and when we had doings for one boy, he sang it.

(Do all these clubs have their own songs?)

No. They just sing any song, like war dance song, or just anything they could pick up.

(Interruption)

The words were, "Soldier boy, you are the one that is looking after our land." That's the way he put them words. The words were in Arapaho.

ARAPAHO FLAG SONG CAME FROM WYOMING

(This Arapaho Flag Song--where did it come from?)

Wyoming. A man made it over there and give it to his people.

(Was that very long ago?)

Oh, it's been quite a while--a long time--Ira Sankey was living. He's the one they gave it to.

(Was Ira Sankey in World War I?)

No. He was too old. My old man was going to be in there. Boy, they sure ruin us. He was to go on the twelfth of November. And just think, he sold all his implements. He sold all his implements that week. And he was
