

'grandma dinner day'. Get your grandma and be going over there!" Every boy was hunting up his grandma. I got my grandma. We all walk across. There wasn't no railroads then and we just cut across the timber right Randlett Park up north. Them days they had a big pond right north--south--of the school. An overflow from the river. Lots of turtles and there was gar fish--gars with long noses--long ones. About three feet long. We stand on the bank there and they'd come to the top and then we'd club them.

LIFE HISTORY MATERIAL: SCHOOLING AT METHVIN INSTITUTE AND RAINY MOUNTAIN

(What would you do with them?)

Oh, we just catch them and kill them to have fun! Our folks told us not to get in--they gonna snap us and gig us with their nose.

(Did you attend that Kiowa School?)

(Didn't hear the question)

It was a boarding school, year. But they were allowed to keep their custom (or costume). That's the only way they would attend school. They'd wear their hair long and paint their faces and wear earring. Wear their sheet or blanket. My uncle went to school up there. He was named after the superintendent, Captain Lee Hall. When he went to school the Agent give him his name. Captain Lee Harry Hall. He left the "Lee" out and he leave "Harry Hall" all his life.

(What was his Indian name?)

(How did you get your name of Guy?)

Well, after I attended school at the Mission School, the principal had a brother named Guy and he give me that name.

(How long did you go to this Kiowa School?)

The Kiowa School was going on then when the Mission school started--in 1890--but I didn't go till after about two years. But they hadn't finished but they already
