

(Mrs. Russell is going back East.)

Yes, she wanted to tell about the Indian girl that made the biscuits.

(Laughter) Yeah.

(Can we have a copy of that, make a copy of that?)

Yes, it's alright with me. Is it alright with you if they have it?

Yeah, she will return it. They are good people.

(Yeah, we'll return it.)

Ella, where is it?

(Pause)

Her name is Jane and Ella along there somewhere. I just can't see it.

MUCH ABOUT AGES OF FAMILY MEMBERS

(What is your brother's name?)

Andy Nave.

And that's his daddy.

I don't think George is in here, is he, Ella? George isn't in here.

George's picture wasn't in there, was it?

No, Tom's was.

James and Ella's.

(That would be 1889, looks like. Would that be about right, 1889?)

No, Ella, it couldn't have been, Ella, you were born in 1880, what?

I was born in 1880.

Well, it couldn't have been then.

(Well, you said you were about eight years old.)

You was eight years old, you said, when you started to school.

I was about as old as (not clear) was.

Un-hun, you could count back from it.
