

--that woman got killed at Rainy Mountain.

(Yeah, I was looking here and it says "Girl Shot at Rainy Mountain by Accident.") (Referring to Drawing No. 100.)

That's the one we thought it was.

(Yes.)

It wasn't no girl--it was Mrs. Ahtape. She was a grown woman. What was this--?

(This is the "Year the Black Leggings Society was Organized.") (Drawing No. 105)

Oh, yeah.

(I think you thought this might be that year the cars came in or the year that they went around and paid all the Indians' debts.) (Drawing No. 104)

It looks to me like a woman--that's what puzzles me. It's got the winter sign there. It happen in the winter. Let's see what Mooney's original calendar says. Might be we get it straightened out--

(I don't think Mooney goes this far, though, this way. See, Mooney's calendar stops in 1890. This would be about 1911 or something like that. See, this year here would be 1913 or 1912.)

Yeah. Mooney just went way back there.

(See, here's the year Quanah Parker died (Referring to Drawing No 102 which seems to say "Old Man Horse...got kill or John Henry...") and we know that's 1911. So this would have to be 1912.) (Pause)

ANECDOTE ABOUT NEGRO LYNCHED IN ANADARKO

Right in there--what did it say about getting killed? (Referring to childish scribble under Drawing 103 & 104) A colored man was mobbed at that time.

In Anadarko. He was hanged at the Anadarko bridge north where the highway going north across the Washita is--the Washita River. Just below the new bridge there used to be an old bridge there. There's a large cottonwood tree standing there and he was hung on there. Tarred up, feathered, and burned--alive. And shot up after he burned. While he was burning they were shooting
