

Methvin goes on to say how Blackmon came to marry his daughter, Emma Beall Methvin, in 1902. Charles H. Dixon, supervisor in charge at Blackmon's death, took over the agency for a while and Lieutenant Ernest Stecker was appointed and took charge January 1, 1908. (pp. 108-9)