GETS TO TAKE ONE STICK FROM THE PILE OF EIGHT. THE PLAYERS TAKE TURNS TOSSING THE BASKET. AFTER ONE PLAYER GETS ALL EIGHT STICKS HE GETS TO PUT DOWN ONE OF HIS COUNTING STICKS. THE EIGHT STICKS ARE PUT BACK NEAR THE BASKET AND THE GAME CONTINUES. AFTER A PLAYER HAS MANAGED TO GET DOWN ALL HIS COUNTING STICKS, HE REPLACES THE PILE OF COUNTING STICKS WITH A SLOW STICK AND BEGINS AGAIN TO WIN ENOUGH POINTS TO BE ABLE TO PUT DOWN ALL HIS COUNTING STICKS TO WIN THE CHANCE OF BEING ABLE TO PUT ANOTHER SLOW STICK DOWN. THE WINNER IS THE FIRST ONE TO GET RID OF ALL HIS SLOW STICKS. REENA MENTIONS THE OBVIOUS, THIS WOULD BE AN ALL DAY GAME. SOME GAMBLING TAKES PLACE WITH IT.

I used to play that way (dice game) with my grandma, My grandma was a hundred and one years old when she died.

(What was her name?)

Sioux Woman. It was my father's mother. It's a nice game this one.

(These pieces (indicating extra playing pieces)...)

Well, when the other party wins to much, you change them. Like if she is winning too much, I know she going to beat me, well I would change them. (playing pieces) And if she know I'm going to beat her, why she change these like that. You see the other party uses the two and I use the three which is alike. You understand it.

(No.)

That's an old dice game, Indian Dice Game. We'd sit around till we finished the whole game. People ain't got no time to play games likke that.
