

is on fire. They said there was a box of cotton setting on the porch, you see and so she came back, they turn him over they wasn't satisfied killing him, they stabbed him you see. So that was October 28, 1863. Mama, was just 8 years old.

(What was your mother's name now?)

Henryetta James.

(Henryetta James.)

Ah-hum. Henryetta James Nave. And she married my dad William Hinton, you see who lived in a house during the Civil War. He is the wife, he and his wife and two small children, niece and nephew were in the house and they noticed coming through the woods, A band of horseman so he knew they were bushwackers, his father knew that if he was found he would be killed by them. It was too late for him to run in the wood, to escape. All though the fire was burning in the fire place, that did not stop him, he crawled up inside the chimney. And hid, isn't that wonderful! Yeah! That's my dad, and my younger sister she lives up Muskogee.

(And what was her name?)

Her name is Gulielma. How do you spell that? Gulielma Jones, Gulielma Hinton. That's G-u-l-i-e-l-m-a, she's named after my mama's niece. Gulielma there she was Ross. Aunt Lizzie's daughter. And married Gene Davenport, the congressman, you remember him? That's a good picture there!

(We've got some more.)

DISCUSSES PICTURES OF ROSS FAMILY, THE INTERVIEWERS BROUGHT WITH THEM

That's the original there.

(We had the original made, right.)

Ah-hum. Mama and dad, William Hinton and Henryetta Nave.
