

John, he said, don't you know so and so. I told him I was gone four years, John get out of here. And I said, Kids have grown up, you know, now. My sister-in-law, my youngest brother, his second wife. Bumsie Carlile well her first husband was Bill Anslie. Sally's daughter she married a Crocket, Mrs. Gotsho. She's a school teacher. So I have an old maid sister. (Both interrupt each other.)

I think electricity, is what killed them. They knew they was burnt out so (not clear). That the 25th of April last years. So I said, she would say don't remember so and so, I finally I would say it I'm Bill Hinton's sister, Hattie. And then I lots of time I would say, I'm Hattie Hinton Douglas. Cause you don't and I said, don't to stop and think when a person been gone kids grow up. Let's see how many people have grown up, you know.

(Sentence not clear.)

(Yeah.)

(Sentence not clear.)

Everything right. His daughter was Anna, you know. (Not clear) is his daughter, Jane Nave. Well it is not. Mama is Henryetta Hinton, you know. And she is buried, just as you saw that is in Mama grave. And this should be Anna.

(Anna?)

Ah-hum, that married Chief Dodson, yeah. That is my grandmother.

(This picture is of who?)

My grandma (not clear) Not there, over here.

(Oh!)

That is Chief John Ross' daughter. Says right here.

(Jane.)

Jane Ross, daughter of Chief John Ross. Yes, that should be Anna there.