

(Oh!)

And so, and everybody tore off and eat.

(And Mr. Markham died?)

Yes! He was over at the (Interruption.)

(I wanted to interview him?)

So, he's pretty high up, you know.

(Sentence not clear.)

I think so.

(What's the title of this?)

MALE AND FEMALE SEMINARY

Male and Female Cherokee National Female Seminary. The Male Seminary and the Female. When it was first originated. And we had our Annual---it started on May the 7th, that's when they had the picnic. And the only---everybody had to walk to the river, that's when you had your sweetheart, one of the boys. Walk over there and back. The only thing that was---the eats, you know that went in wagon, you know to the river, you see. That's where we had our picnic, every year.

(They call that the (not clear) picnic, or something?)

The annual picnic. Homecoming. Homecoming the May 7th. So we had each year if we didn't have enough there and Mr. Garrison was there. And he said, it would be just as nice. And he was very nice. But is was chilly that morning, I took my coat. And then somebody said, I took your picture.

(May Party, Gram...First of the sentence not clear) "The anniversary of opening of Cherokee National Seminary reception for students, May 7th, 1851.

And it was memorable of that date, for many years. A picnic or May Party was held at some convenient place where program rendered consisting of vocal