

(To a Seminole?)

I...Um-hum. To a Seminole. Sampson? Sampson Nickleson was your second father? Yeah. I...that was her second father. I...do you want me to ask her first about her father working at...

(Yes, uh-huh.)

I...she says that's where she, her father use to work at the Council House and that's where her mother met him.

(He worked...he was a member of the ah, Creek Council was he?)

(Ask her if he was a Creek...one of the leaders who worked at the Council House or what?)

I...He just worked on the building, that's what she said.

(Oh, he jest worked on the building?)

I...Um-hum. He jest helped build the Council House.

(Does she remember that year that was...course that would be before she was born.)

I...Um-hum. She jest said the same thing she said while ago.

(Ask her about after her mother married Sampson Nickleson...where did they live?)

(Now go ahead and interpret for me.)

I...I don't know what she was talking about. Let's ask her about something else.

(All right, go ahead and ask her about...ask her if she remembers anything about the "Creek Light Horsemen," or anything like that.)

I...Light Horseman.

(Light Horsemen, the name of the law enforcement officers.)

I...(asks Mrs. Fife)...Creek Light Horsemen. Ha? Creek Light Horsemen. Was that a name?

(Light Horsemen...Um-hum.)

I...Light Horsemen. She said she probably didn't even know 'cause she was young then.

(Pat, I think she's tired.)

I...I think she is too.

(Let's stop and then we can come back.)
