

that. The youngest ones, not the oldest ones. The three oldest ones, they not that way. I get so mad at her, I know, one time, one of the girls came in, I know, she's expecting. I say, Mary, is she expecting. She said, yea. She had a little boy, it was a white boy. They just took that away from her. And here she's already expecting. Wasn't long after she had it...she still got it, the little Indian baby.

But I get after them. They used to come over, and bum off of her. And stay out late of night. And sometimes she come home drunk. I finally got rid of them. I told them, I ain't going to take care of you all. You go find you something. And she left her baby. I said, I'm not going to baby sit. You going to have babies like that, you take care of them yourself. Their mother's are like that though. Two of them girls, their mother is like that. Oh, pitiful. One of them got sick not long ago in the hospital. Finally came back. Diabetic...drinking beer.

ATTITUDE TOWARD TERMINATION

(One last question on this, how do you feel yourself about all this talk about terminating the office and...?)

Well, I guess I'm a person that mind my own business, and never have to worry so much about things. And besides, I'm diabetic, and my doctor always tell me, don't worry. I know how to think, and keep to myself.

(Do you think it would be a good thing for the Indian people?)

I don't know, I believe we already ruined.

(A lot of people have said that if the government terminates, they are going to lose their land?)

I guess it would be that way, I guess. If the government was to turn us loose, they'd all be selling their land. I know some, they hold them back. The ones, they would probably just throw their money away. I know of one man, not long ago. It's my oldest granddaughter's father-in-law. She said, we tried to tell him, but he just go his way. And he had some mineral rights, somewhere, and he wants to sell his mineral rights.

And he got almost three thousand dollars. And what did he do. He gave so much to his daughter and so much to his son...that's my granddaughter's husband...that's where he stays all the time
