(And where was that--what town was his land near?)

Watonga.

(Was it close to yours?)

Yeah, about a mile west from my place. It was way over this way. They haven't cleaned the timber on there. It's thick blackjacks there yet. That's where his land was.

(How would you describe where your land is?)

You could see it on the road, when you go south--you know when you turn that corner coming west from there (Watonga). You know you come north from Watonga about six miles, I think, and then turn west and there's a curve--

(A real sharp curve, isn't it?) (Myrtle's land is located on State Highway 51A between Watonga and Southard--jj)

Yeah. And this place here was another woman's, but mine was on the north side. Way north. It's got cedars there. A short tree row there. That's my eighty.

(It's on the west side of the road. On the west side of the road, that was my mother's. And I was in school yet when my sister sold it. I didn't know it was sold.

(That was Amy that sold that?)

Yeah. They bought cattle with it, I guess.

MYRTLE'S HUSBAND'S FARMING

(Now how did your husband use this eight hundred dollars he got for his land?)

He used it to farm with. He used to buy seed and stuff like that with it and feed for his horses. And he farmed that eighty one year. And we had a wagon--
