

START OF GAME

(How do they start that game?)

Oh, just like--oh, they get a bunch just like that. And somebody's got them--somebody knows how to control them, but they all knew how. Just throw it up in the air and the game start, whoever could, you know, hit them in the air, you know. And some of them, they wave which way they're-- where they're going, you know.

(Yeah, yeah.)

They have, you know, so many on each side.

(Mmmm-hmmm.)

You know, kind of divide up.

(Yeah.)

Mmmm, it's good lunch. (laughter)

(Yeah. Can they--when they--when a woman catches one of these things, can she run with it?)

Yeah, she can run, you know, little ways, can't run all the way. They run so far. Then, you get your--oh, maybe, you try to throw it. But, I think it's that game you could--if you try to throw it like that, you know-- maybe, it's got them things (not clear) over there, maybe, I think you can try to get them away.

(Yeah.)

You have to try to get away. Same way, then the things gets on the ground-- I'm trying to--somebody hooks it and it go over there. They have time, you know.

(Yeah.)

Sometimes on a (not clear), you have time, you know, getting them (laughter)

They get it right place, you know.
