

Some made--when that--some don't--when they reach too far, you know, maybe, they make them a little longer.

(Mmm-hmmm.)

But they--they come about that long.

BEGINNING OF THE GAME UNKNOWN

(Yeah. Are there any stories, Joe, about where--how that game started?)

No, it's just a--it's just a game (not clear)

(Uh-huh.)

It was given to Wichitas, you know.

(Yeah. It was given to the Wichitas?)

Yeah.

(Who--who--who gave it to them?)

Well, I don't know. Maybe, I couldn't say somebody invented the game, but somebody, you know--these old Indians, you know, they--sometime, maybe, they have a dream, you know.

(Mmm-hmmm.)

They go by--you know, they're strong on dreams, you know.

(Yeah.)

Whenever they see something, they're going to try it.

(Yeah.)

Well, nothing but, you know, they do see in dreams, you know, like somebody--they see something, well, they're going to try it.

(Yeah.)

That's about all, you know. They--I couldn't say, "Well, well, probably, it's Almighty's showing somebody."

(Yeah.)

I think that's the way it started.
