

GIVEAWAY AFTER FEAST

Well, they ate it, you know. I was--I told them. (sentence not clear), you know. I told them (not clear), come here," you know. "This is my folk's place here right in here." And so, well, he says, "Them Pawnees, that's good." Told them, "You people going to eat, you know. But still I can't forget that you people send for me, you know, faithful." I told them, "I can't forget that, you know, "which I never will." So, maybe until I go, you know. Well, I don't know, this--I can't say, you know. I handled this before.

(Mmm-hmmm.)

I handled that. That man was head of it, well, they--they told them people that. I was going to (not clear) tobacco, you know, accept it which I did. I said, "I want to take it." I'll take it 'cause they give it to me. I couldn't--I can't refuse.

(Yeah.)

See, it's a--it's a tobacco what we worship by.

(Yeah.)

I can't refuse. So, they give it to me. I'm going to take it, you know. Well, lots of people on the side, you know, they think--they think they should give it to--give it to a man that's got honey. You know what I mean?

(Yeah.)

Well, kind of like, you know, maybe, stock---

(Yeah.)

---plenty food, plenty goods to give away. That's what they look at, but on my side, my people, they tell me, "It's not it."

(Yeah.)
