

go (not clear).

(Yeah.)

But, nowadays, we have to kind of--everything's straightened up, you know, (not clear).

(Yeah.)

Maybe, days, something like that, then, go, you know.

(Yeah, yeah.)

Yeah, there's different ways, you know, until the day comes for giveaway, you know. You got to stay there.

(Yeah, yeah. Well, has anybody taken the tobacco up the Pawnee yet, this year? Has the tobacco been taken up the Pawnee this year?)

No.

(not yet.)

No, not yet. Mr. Miller--Mr. Houston Miller, he's our--he's our leader, and they're going up there. I don't know how--how--he hasn't said nothing yet, you know---

(Yeah.)

---what we're going to do, you know, and things like that. But we always--well, sometimes when I talk over here, I tell them about how people, you know, been--they treat them.

(Yeah.)

That's our way, you know, like there's some people that gives some beef and groceries and money and like that, try to help.

(Yeah, yeah.)

We always try to remember these things. We might, you know--it's a big thing helping--helping out like that, you know, in this kind of (not clear).
