

(Yeah.)

Too coarse.

(Yeah.)

Couldn't--couldn't take it. After I got through with that (not clear).

I knew what with that now. That tobacco was again coarse, you know, (not clear).

(Yeah.)

I guess (laughter) I smoked it. I try it, but I smoked it: Well, he thought, "Well, something's wrong." Last time, I ask him, "What's wrong?" "Well, I got to use that pipe again," he says, "there's something in the stem."

(Mmm-hmmm.) (End of Side A)

SELECTION OF DATES FOR VISITS

(---just a buckskin hide of some kind?)

Yeah, yeah. (pause)

(Well, you have to decide in advance about the dance then though, don't you? I mean the date that you're going to have, the--that you're going to go up and camp at Pawnee?)

Oh.

(How do--how do you set that date each year?)

Well, if the people, they, you know--somebody, you know, has to set a day, you know, to have a day, you know. Anybody--anybody could dance, you know.

(Yeah, yeah.)

Only one thing, the Pawnees--I don't know. They may be from down Sunday.

I don't know. I'm just saying. I was just telling my wife this morning,

"Someone to come up."

(Yeah.)
