

it, you know. They--they--they don't stay too long, maybe--sometime, maybe, two weeks, you know.

(Yeah.)

See, people nowadays, there's just few goes, you know.

(Yeah.)

And that's the way, you know, the main day, you know.

(Oh, I see, yeah.)

And they go up, you know.

(Yeah.)

That's when you see the whole Wichita tribe there, and--

THE DAY FOR GIVEAWAY - THINGS GIVEN AWAY

(That's the day of the giveaway?)

Yeah.

(And when you're up at Pawnee, the Pawnee give gifts to the Wichita. Is that right? They get presents for the Wichita?)

Yeah.

(What kind of things do they give, Joe?)

Well, long time ago, you know, well, they mostly give horses.

(Yeah.)

But now, you know, well, they give, maybe, some kind of blankets, shawls---

(Yeah.)

Well, usually, whenever you can give money and maybe something like that, you know. That's groceries. You know, they get groceries, you know, some of them. But now, this--actually, them people pledge quite a bit.

(Mmm-hmm.)

We give that here when they're here. See, I always tell them, "Whenever you go up there, let's don't expect everything they pledge."

(Yeah.)
