

That was Big Ben. And then even we....we don't fool with food. If they're having a big dinner, a peyote meeting, or something, then we just try to stay completely away from them, the men who have taken this peyote. And then even when you're pregnant, you know, you don't go around people like that. But times have changed so much. Like now, I'm not even supposed to be around my brother, you know, but like I said, times change. And the people have different ways, and it's very hard to keep to the rules like that, you know. To show your self-respect...it's really hard. When you were small, you know, it wasn't so hard, but now you've grown up and married, you know, and it's really hard. And we never go swimming when we have our periods. They say these snakes and other things can smell you and they will chase you.

(Do the fathers tell their sons about these things?)

Well, my mother told the boys. Some father's it's just a very few, that'll sit down and talk to their boys. The only problem they have is like when their boy's drinking and things like that. It takes a long time for the father to talk about things like that, but the mother's always giving advice.
