

Out of the---we had the pick-up out there and, 'see,' we didn't even think, you know, that--somebody got that case of beer, and so we got in the car. We didn't stay there long--we got in the car and went back after more beer. Well, we drove off; well, the county came out there and raided the place.

(Who turned in the complaint?)

It's probably our neighbor down below.

(Did they pick up very many people that night?)

Yeah, they picked up quite a few that night. I don't know how many, but there were quite a few young ones that they picked up.

(Do they ever get the singers?)

No, no that's one thing that they don't get, that's the singers. I don't know how they managed to get away, but they never do.

(But then did they have another Forty-Nine that same night?)

Yeah, well that same night after that place was raided everybody else took off to another place.

(Where did they go then?)

They went out west of Carnegie--I don't know the name of that place--but that's where we went.

(You went with them?)

Uh-huh, we went to that one, too.

(Tell me about that one?)

Well, we went--after we bought out beer, well, we bought another case of beer and we went out to this other place out west of Carnegie and we danced there until about 4 o'clock in the morning, I guess, and then a fight started. So we just left.

(Oh was it a pretty big fight?)

Yeah, it was a pretty big fight.

(How many people were there?)
