

you know, and Back-and-Forth, you know, and Andy was so drunk that he couldn't even stand up. He had boots on--that's what made it worst, and he'd run backwards, you know, and run forwards--Oh, he had a rough time.

(Weren't there any laws there to come after him?)

No. He wasn't hurting anybody but himself, you know, trying to get Jack to his tent.

(He was camped there?)

Uh-huh, he was camped there. But he never stayed in it because it rained, you know, while we were over there. And his tent blew down, his arbor or something,-- one side blew down and they had to stay in the pick-up.
