

cemetery so many acres. He gave a land for the ? the missionary man so the government put up a house for the missionary lady. At that time there wasn't no house for. That missionary lady she supposed to be like a ? matron. She goes around to their homes. She show them how to clean their homes up. And then goes around to their homes. and if she find them sick she get them medicine. Like cough medicine. They all like cough syrup. The pill, bandages. Just like what they do for the Indians now. But that missionary she got a team of horses and a buggy and she drive around among all the neighbors as far as she could go and that was her work. And they all like her too. And they all come to that church and they got it fixed like the modern way now. Got a baptism you know.

(Where is it?)

RedStone. It just six miles west. That's where my home. They got a basement where they have meals together. And classrooms, 1, 2, 3, classrooms and they got a basement where they have meals together. And and they got a big room there where they all have their meetings together. That's what my daddy done. On his own land what was given to all of the rest of..like the others. And we still have a church out there now. And the only Indian I'm a member there with the young people. I want to be home. I see the place, around there like the river and the hill and now they even have our road fixed like the highway.. Apache Y they call it..go north two miles. That were I live. That's where my home is. And I don't have to catch no ride. I walk over there to the church. And other people come in. They used to travel in team and wagon to come to church over there. They all eat dinner together and they have a meeting in the afternoon but now they just have a meeting in the morning till noon. They all leave, but sometimes they gather there for some special prayer meeting for the church. One member going to have a prayer meeting over there for my son, my daughter, my mama. They all get together at evening..night.

(Are there any white people?)

Yes, they invite them. Some of them come. It looks like all of them been members
