

three more. They paint them red. They paint them red, but they don't -- they don't mark them, it's kind of blank, you know.

(Yeah.)

But this other one, that's the one they got to watch.

(Yeah.)

And I think they have a -- I think about twenty sticks, twenty sticks. We started twenty sticks. The whole thing, I think, about forty sticks.

(What -- what are those made out of? What kind of wood are those sticks made out of, those others?)

Uh, which one you mean?

(The one -- you said there were forty of them.)

Oh, dogwood.

(Dogwood.)

Dogwood, yeah, big ones, you know a foot long?

(Yeah.)

About foot long, you know, they keep score. Then, they got, I think, four. Four's the limit, you know, the whole game, you know.

(Yeah.)

Four sticks, four sticks. And I think they come out too. You know, oh, it's just the way you want to play it, you know.

(Yeah.)

Four, four games. And when these sticks, the way they score, well, we'll start blue -- blue up. And three -- three on the back, you know.

(Three down?)

They're not this way, you know. They're just down, you know. Well, that's ten. You score ten. Then, maybe, you got another shot at it which, you know, you hit.
