

(The next section going South?)

No, West, and back that way South, and back that was one of my sister's land. All the rest of them were born after us and they were not allotted because they were too young. They came after everything was settled and the allotment was given.

(Which allotment did you get?) T

That one over there across the road.

(Which direction is that?)

The one that runs this way (east and west nearest her house.) Where them trees are up there. That's where I used to live. Up on that hill.

(Did your father have that land leased when you were living in Fort Sill.)

Yeh.

(What other kinds of things did he do when he was there?)

He had cattle and horses. He had a lot of cattle. He had 200 or 300 head of cattle, right in this pasture and the other pasture and those two back there. There's one, two, three, pastures in there, back there. He had them full of cattle.

(And these cattle all belonged to him?) Yes. And his horses too. He had a lot of horses.

(I thought you said this land was leased?)

No, we didn't lease it in them times. We didn't lease it. We keep the whole quarters. They don't lease from us. He had his cattle all over here, up and down the creek. Them years when I was young we didn't know nothing about leases. The white peoples was hardly around here. Nothing but Indians up and down this creek. Up and down that creek where the reservoir is now. You know that Elsworth Lake, that was just full of Indians.

There's a creek running through there, that Cache Creek.

(And this creek running near you is.....)

Chandler Creek.
