

over there. And he would go over there and talk to them about the Bible. He don't know nothing about the white people's way. We don't want you to tell us old stories about old white peoples that are dead long time ago. That's what they tell him and when he prayed some of those Indians they tell him who do you pray to? And he says, "Well, I pray to god because the white man told me." He had an interpreter. You know the preacher was there and these boys that were in school the oldest ones they interpreted for Dad, make him understand Bible. And so he sends him over there every other Sunday to preach to them.

(What was the preacher's name up here at Cache Creek Mission?)

Mr. Crevis, W. W. Crevis..Crees I forgot now how he spelled it. He stayed there many years. I stayed in school there ten years. I went to school ten years over there.

(How did you like it over there?)

I really did like it.

(What kind of things did you do in school?)

We read and spell and arithmetic. You know, anything, bible class, bible school in the summer. We would go and stay there. We would go to summer school for about three weeks end then we'd come home. After they learn us. There was a lot of white womans over there teaching and there was a lot of white womans over there teaching. And there was a lot of buildings up there but they tear them all down. And now theres just a church, and the girls' buildings and they tear it half way off and they made it into a home. Somebody bought that place and made a home out of it....girl's building. Just them two buildings are there now. Just a church and used to belong to....where we stay when we were in school. It belongs to somebody up here at Apache. He bought that. Then built it and made a home out of it.
