

go down to the creek, you know. You ought to take a knife...if they've tied up their legs with ropes, you can cut them off." So he took a knife with him. He went down there and hid, you know. Pretty soon a girl went down there, had a blanket in there and the ropes was all tied up you know so that nobody won't get to them you know. That fellow was wrapped around in the creek hided, you know he saw the girl come down. After that girl had been down to the creek for a while, this fellow came up, catch hold of her, throwed her down and...found out the ropes was tied up her legs, you know, why he got his knife open and cut all the ropes off. He got away with her that way...he cut if off pretty good. Yeah, the girl went back home and told her folks about it, you know, and her mother was pretty mad, you know, but they couldn't do nothing with him. He had that knife with him, well he was free go and go after that man, you know but he was afraid of that knife. He was afraid of it. Let's see. Well, these Indians, they go out hunting you know, One man used to chase the buffalo, and he had two skins full of arrows, you know. He couldn't catch him, and he just keep running him down, you know, and after he run him down, he thought he was going to jump over and ride this buffalo that was just walking, running slow, you know, and after he run him down, he thought he was going to jump over and ride this buffalo that was just walking running slow you know. and this Indian got on the buffalo you know on his back and turned around and opened the back where he could find the kidneys, you know. He cut it up, you know, and opened up in there and cut the kidneys out. Afther they cut it off, why this buffalo die. "Cause they cut off the kidneys out you know. They ate them up on the raw, you know. After he