

schooling.

(Did you like it?)

Oh yes. I liked it fine. But of course my purpose was to go on to Philadelphia to get into one of the best hospitals then I could get into. So that's why I went besides my education.

(What did you do after you got out of Carlyle?)

EXPERIENCES AT PHOENIX INDIAN SCHOOL:

Well I came back home and got Spanish influenza and then I had to go for a rest period in Phoenix, Arizona.

(Was that at another school?)

Oh yes.

(Did you have anything different to do at Phoenix?)

No. It was still under the military system because they had to drill.

(You had to drill?)

Yes, we had to drill.

(What kind of drill was this?)

Military style. I know all the commands.

(Did the girls march around?)

Well, we drilled, dress parade and everything like that because we had to right on the dot. They just give you about 15 minutes to get ready and get in line. We had dress review and everything. You don't believe me, I can show you the pictures..

(Oh, I believe you.)

No, we had better than a thousand students, and we always had an adjutant and a major, and then the captain and then the lieutenants. And in the dress reviews it was always the major and adjutant that always took over.
