

and coffee pot. I don't know what all I had. I had a lot of things.

When I left for school, somebody got into them and that's where it ended.

Yeah, we had dolls and then things that were made for home use.

(Would your relatives ever made any toys and give them to you?)

Oh yes.

(What sort of things would they make?)

Oh, stuffed dolls and one thing and another. You know, just anything that the hands could make.

(Did they ever make any bows and arrows?)

Oh, that was for the boys. Women didn't have a thing to do with that nor drums, women aren't supposed to handle them.

(The women never handle the drums?)

No. The women never the drum. No. The arrows or drum sticks/or anything. That's strictly for the man.

(Were there any other things that women weren't supposed to handle?)

Well, things that are boys toys or something like that. Such as bows and arrows and you know. Quivers and so on. Why women didn't have anything to do with that.

(What about your toys? Would your sisters play with them too?)

Oh yes. It was all right?)

(Would they have to ask you first if you could play with them?)

Yes.

(What would happen if they just took them without asking you?)

Well, probably be a squabble and that's about all.

(Would anyone punish them for doing it?)

Oh yes. Mother always got after them either whipped them or something.
