

(Oh, will they?)

Yeah.

(You mean, they'll take you out there?)

Huh?

(Will they take you out there? Will they pay for your way out there?)

Yeah, they're going to take the people out there, you know. They--I don't know how many is going to go, but I'll find out, you know, for you when you have that meeting, you know.

(Yeah.)

See, why I don't go to that meetings, you know, I can't hear. Somebody got to tell me right here, you know, close. Well, that's when it's going to be though, I believe for that purpose.

(Yeah. Are you going to go to Boston?)

I don't know. Well, I mean, we're just talking, you know.

(Yeah.)

We're trying to--well, they fly. That's only way I could, you know, car. Well, it's the way you go on train, I guess, you know.

(Yeah, yeah.)

I don't know how they're going to go. They didn't say.

(Yeah.)

But, you know, plane, well, you can put me in there, you know, I'll go.

(Yeah.) (laughter)

Well, my boy--I just got one boy left. He was in the Navy, you know.

(Yeah.)

But he--he went back again.

(That's David?)

Yeah, he went back. I don't know where's he at. She got letter. Ethel
