

(Yeah.)

There's a biggest game I saw was where old Kansas, right east, you know, on side of that hill. I saw them play there one time, you know. There's a--they have ceremony. Somebody's got to, you know, ask that man up there, "We're going to do this." I'm going to make something, you know. Well, they all, you know, could run. They knew how. Only thing, you can't, you can't play, some used to be kind of bad, you know. Sometimes, maybe, hook your stick, you know.

(Yeah.)

I see some of them carrying sticks like that. Then, some of them, they use them straight, you know. They know how to hit that ball, you know. I don't know, they have a--they don't have no goals. They just have a line, you know, where the ball goes over, you know, well, somebody's got to run that ball over there, you know, some pretty fast man; but them guys kind of guard the place where they're going to take that. They're fast too.

(Yeah.)

Yeah, they--they--they're going to do something to you, you know, stop you, get the ball, you know. It's a--it's not a hard game, but it's not like that stick game, you know. That's a--that's an old Wichita game, you know.

(Yeah.)

Seen that, oh, they use buckskin, you know, buckskin ball about that big.

(Yeah.)

Oh, they make them any size, you know, but mostly it's that big. They got a buffalo hair in it.

(Yeah.)

Stuff it in there and sew it with sinew.

(Mmm-hmm.)
