

(Yeah, yeah.)

I---

TALKS ABOUT THE "PAINT" WORN IN GAMES

(Joe, did they ever--did they ever paint themselves when they played Shinney? Did they ever use paint like in that race?)

Well, wasn't that for years, they use, you know. Well, you can say--like every Sunday, you know, they use that paint, you know.

(Yeah.)

You know, whenever they want to put on their face, you know, but some of them, you know, wear, maybe, every day.

(Yeah.)

You know, they just got used to it that way. I got one in there. There's a little cup over there. See, I won't know what kind of paint that is, but it's just a paint. I don't know where it come from.

(Yeah. Huh!)

I looked all over they got paint. I don't know. I don't know where you get.

(Yeah.)

But I don't know. I guess, they cook it. (static) There's a, I don't know.

I got this from--see, my uncle had a bunch of paint, but somebody stole everything. I had some in them little--little--little wooden boxes. I had yellow, green, red, red.

(Did that--you--you said you don't know where that paint came from? Around here?)

Well, I won't know, you know.

(Yeah.)

But lot of times, I just--going to get off of those games now. (laughter)
