

No, he didn't know him but he finally knew him.

(When did he finally meet him?)

When we got married. ((laughter)) I didn't finish school. I just come home.

And my father found out so he called him. We got married. 1919. We got married October 20, 1919.

(You were only 20? You had known him three years?)

Uh-huh. About two years.

(Did you like him right away?)

No I didn't. ((laughter)) I didn't really dislike him... It was half way between.

(How long before you started to like him?)

Oh, I guess when I was in school, kept writing him. I guess that's what made me come back.

(Where was he from?)

Weleetka.

(Did your parents like him after they had met him?)

It was just my father.

(Did he ask if he could marry you?)

No he didn't.

(When did he ask you to marry him?)

When I was in school he wrote and told me and asked me.

(And you wrote him ((not clear))...)

Yeah. That's why I come home to get married.

(And that was in 1919?)

Yes.

(Did you expect him right away?)

Yes.
