

(What kind of songs?)

Just stomp dance songs.

(What are they like?)

I don't know. My grandson could tell you. He goes to them, Craig. He dances with them, he said, ((Is that a bug? I thought I saw it crawling up there.))

CREEK LANGUAGE BEING LOST SLOWLY

(Can you still speak Creek?)

Uh-huh. I said, "Fellow..." - There's no Indian that come around here that talks. If I don't talk some Indian I am going to forget to talk my own language.

(That's kind of bad.)

INDIAN SONGS AND FUNERALS

Yeah, the only Indians I see are when I go to some big church, Indian church, or funeral.

(What are the funerals like?)

Oh, just like the funeral - just like white people's funerals.

(You said they recorded a song for them to play at your father's funeral?)

No, we sang at my husband...before my husband passed away, about 2 or 3 years, and when they had service that man brought it in and played it for them.

(What song was it. What kind of song?)

I don't know now.

(Can you sing any song in Creek?)

Sometimes, but I plum sure forget if I don't go to the Indian churches.

(Would you like to sing one. Then they will never forget it. Would you like to sing a song for us?)
