

turn around whenever you know..on fourth day, it'll be easy to turn it. But right now, I just pierce it right now, well your ear will be kind of tight yet, but lately on it will different. And keep on..lately on some-time you could..so, etimes earrings, kind of big to go through the hold, but keep it on, put it on, it'll work it'll stretch but kind of grease it to keep it from getting infected. Yeah, and you can take care of it, I know you could. But Judy, after about two days, I think, yeah, I forgot just how many days she's g4t her earring on, but I was kind of afraid she might make it sore, you know, but she took care of it. See mine, this one is just going through and there's a little screw back there, you could wear these kind too. I wear these for everyday so my ear won't close up, but any doings, Indian dancing doings, well I got the other kind of earrings to wear. But I like these, they don't bother you know, they don't hang on to my clothes. You can buy any kind of earrings and wear any kind of earrings. But me, I'm so old and cranky.

(Was there any particular reason why they chose the springtime to pierce ears?)

Well, it seems like when it's cool, see but on in summer it's hot and it seems like it hurts when it's hot. But now it's cool, pretty cool today, cloudy.

INDIAN STORY:

Well, this man Indian man, he was huntin g and he got this knife, and he said, "I've been going along the creek. Along the bank here a long ways I might see some deer." And he kept walking along the creek bank and here a long ways and finally he looked back and there was a bear. Some bear was trailing him. Well he was coming, put his head down and was trailing him semlling his track and was coming to the same place he was coming. And finally he said, "Uh, oh, there's a bear trailing me," he said, "And
